- "Devil's Deal" is a narrative centred on an adolescent girl who enters a pact with the devil. Ultimately, with her deceit, the deal favours the devil. In a poignant scene, she sits outside her room, her arms raised holding off the door in panic and silent as she gradually fades into mist with her back facing the door and knees to the floor .

Her face is obscured by her hands, and she is positioned with legs bent on in squatting position. One leg is extended beyond with both knees pointing forwards.

She has a broken samurai sword on her waist with blood stains. The other of the room is one fire and daemons are crawling into our worlds. This artwork captures the aftermath of the climactic moment when the deal is sealed.

The powerful imagery of her fading away while gazing at her hands evokes a profound sense of loss and desperation. The scene conveys the irreversible nature of the devil's deal and the girl's tragic realization of her fate.
